VERBAL DESCRIPTION: odd piece -- probably a modeled censer, possibly one of the squarish ones. The 2 sides meet at slightly greater than a right angle. Interior is moderately burnished. One exterior surface, designated the rear, is also burnished, but less well, especially near the <sup>corner</sup> junction. It also has a fire cloud. Other side has crude cross-hatching on a roughened area, like a scored censer. Below it is a smoothed panel painted red (7.5 R 4/6), and lightly burnished. Rear has lateral and longitudinal convex curvature. Front is convex longitudinally, slightly convex laterally. No burning.
